What makes a good or bad website?

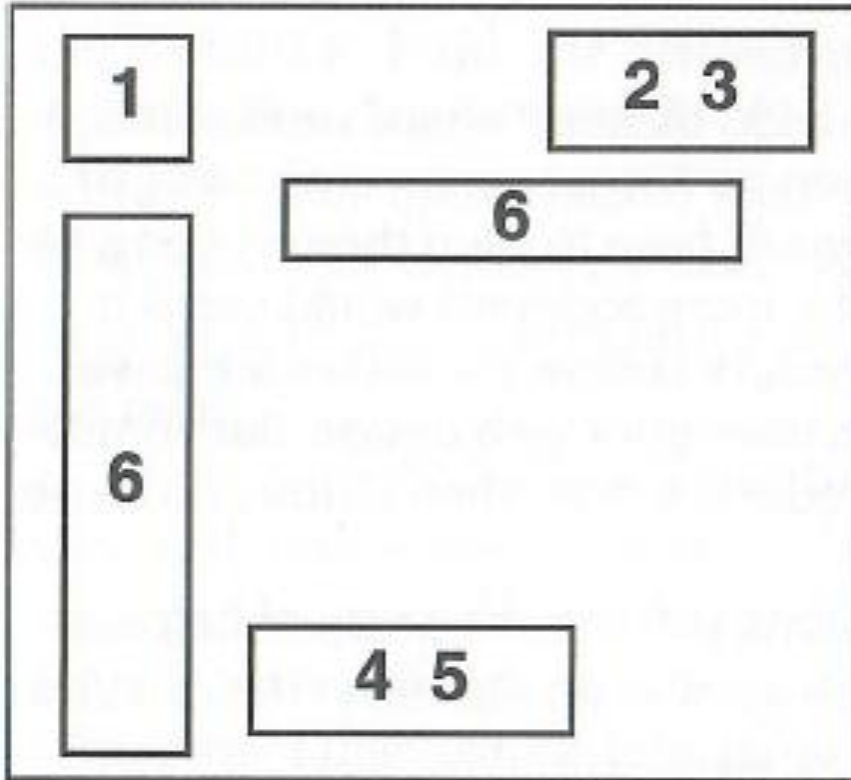

Exercise: design the landing page of a website

- Design a landing page for the new online SMU souvenir shop. Products available include T shirts, mugs, bags, note books, snacks etc
- Assume that users will access the website from a laptop (13 inch screen) and users are SMU students (19 to 25 years old)
- Product images can be downloaded at: <https://tinyurl.com/2ffpkwc9>
- Icons can be downloaded at: <https://www.flaticon.com/>

Principles of website design

- Follow design conventions

About Us

“Less Worries for a Better Tomorrow”

Ageing is an inevitable process of life. With our one-stop portal, we wish to empower you by providing the information you need to age gracefully, without worries.

Advance Medical Directive (AMD)

What is it?

It is a legal document that you sign in advance to instruct your doctor that you do not wish to receive any extraordinary life-sustaining treatment should you become terminal ill or unconscious.

Why should you do this?

Reduces emotional stress and potential conflicts between loved ones

- Your loved ones can have peace of mind from not having to make the painful decision as to whether to let you go peacefully or prolong your death
- Reduces potential conflicts between loved ones as no one has the right to object to your AMD

Honours your wishes regarding end-of-life care

- When a patient is diagnosed with terminal illnesses such as cancer, there might be tremendous pain and discomfort.
- The AMD is a legally recognised way to prevent an extension of suffering, allowing patients to have their wishes honoured and have a natural and dignified death.

Advance Medical Directive (AMD)

Eligibility Requirements

You need to be:

- at least 21 years old; and
- have mental capacity.

Not sure what is mental capacity? Click HERE!

Pricing

You would need to pay for the consultation with the doctor, and this amount varies depending on which doctor you consult. The AMD form itself is free.

Lasting Power Of Attorney (LPA)

A legal document which allows a person who is 21 years or older ('donor') to appoint one or more persons ('donee(s)') to make decisions and act on his/her behalf if one loses mental capacity.

A donee can be appointed to act in 2 areas: personal welfare and property & affairs.

You can have one or more donee.

Why Make A LPA?

Without a LPA, your family members or carer(s) are not automatically given the right to make decisions for you.

They may face difficulties trying to:

- Arrange for your care
- Manage your bank account and properties
- Decide how to best use your money for your day-to-day needs

A court order will be required to appoint a person to manage the affairs of a person who lacked mental capacity. This is usually an expensive and long process.

Requirements For A LPA

The requirements are:

- You must be at least 21 years old;
- Have the mental capacity to make the LPA
- You must not be a bankrupt if you are appointing a donee

Steps to make a LPA

Checklist for LPA

Key Takeaways

- ✓ A LPA allow you to appoint a donee to make decisions for you if one loses mental capacity
- ✓ You must be 21 years of age, and have mental capacity to make a LPA
- ✓ Choose Form 1 or Form 2 for your LPA and certify it with a Certificate Issuer.

If you are unsure of what is mental capacity, you can find out more here.

How To Terminate A LPA?

You can terminate your LPA any time when you have mental capacity.

Step 1:

Complete and sign a revocation form.

Step 2:

Take steps to tell each donee of the revocation.

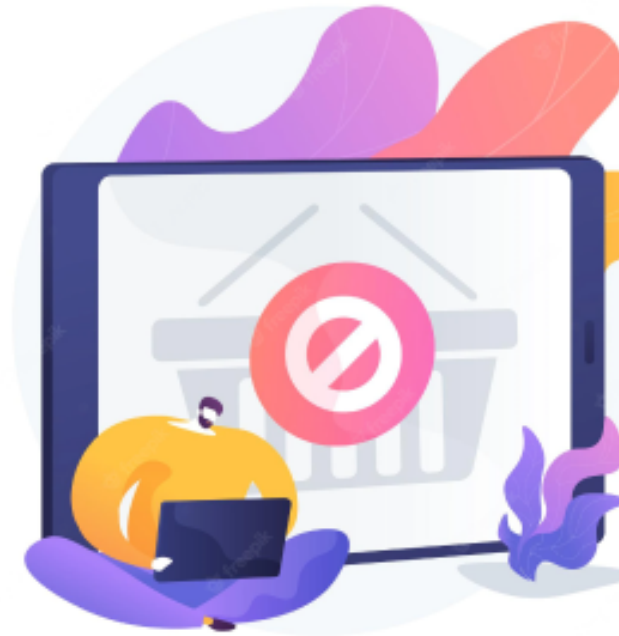

They must sign the acknowledgement in the revocation form to let the Public Guardian know that notice of the revocation has been given.

Step 3:

Inform the Office of Public Guardian by sending them the revocation form via post or email.

If by post, the original hardcopy registered LPA and your new LPA application should be included as well.

Parties are recommended to only terminate their existing LPA after registering a new LPA.
